

Your experiences with modules and assessment

Pre-task:

Tell your partner about the modules you studied last semester. Which modules did you like most, which did you like least?

Image 1

Task 1:

Describe your partner the module which you liked best so far in your studies. Try to convince him/her that it is the best module in the world!

Task 2:

Compare your studies:

- What was the most difficult module you have studied so far? Describe why this module was such a challenge.
- Tell each other how your modules are assessed, e.g. through written exams, oral exams, coursework, etc.
- Discuss the similarities and differences in assessment between your universities and what you see as the advantages and disadvantages of different types of assessment.

Follow-up Task:

Have a look at the website of the home university of your partner to see which modules are offered in your subject area. Tell your partner about your findings during your next tandem session and tell him/her which of the modules you found particularly interesting.

Sources

Image 1 Copyright: College of Humanities, University of Exeter