

Rent and salary

Task 1:

Is it common in your country to rent or buy a flat or a house?

Task 2:

Look for statistics about starting salaries (what people earn on average in their first job after finishing their degrees) in your own country and that of your partner and compare the results. What are the differences between your countries and the professions? What could be the reasons for that?

Task 3:

Compare the average rent prices and the rent to income proportion in your home countries and another European country, for example on the basis of the following statistics:

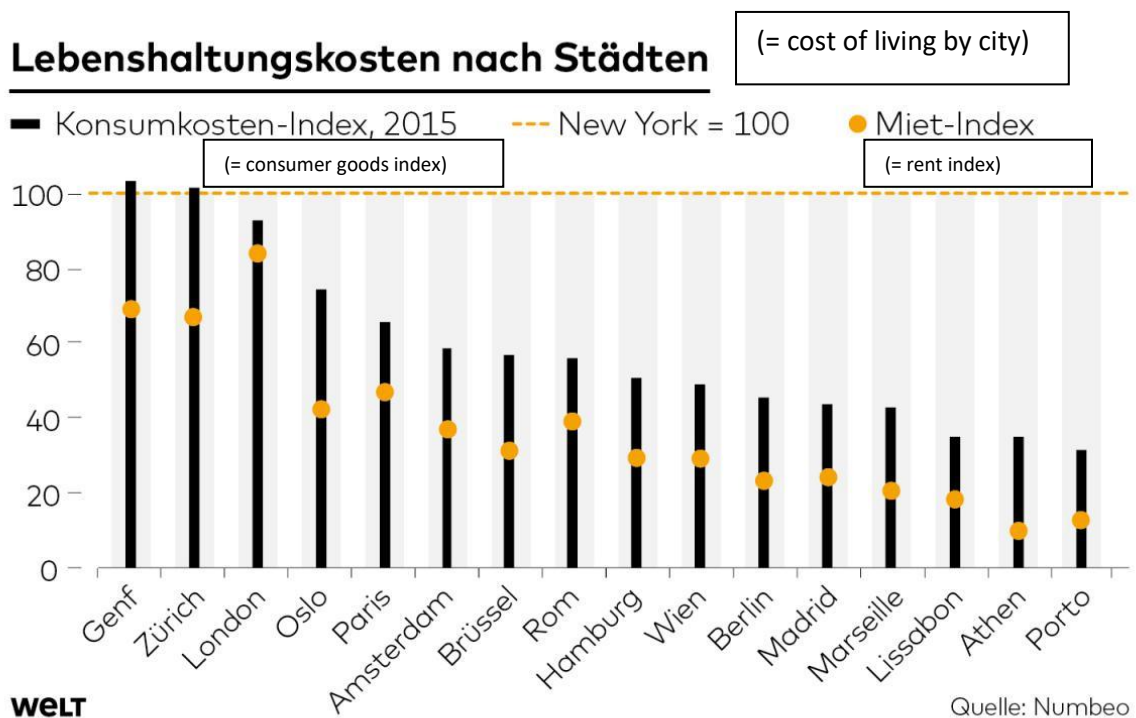

Image 11

What are the differences and what do you think could be the reasons for them?

Task 4:

Can you imagine to work and live in your partner's country? If yes, why? If no, why not?

Sources

Image 1 <https://www.welt.de/wirtschaft/article156731974/In-diesen-Laendern-lebt-es->

<sup>1</sup> The cities in the order of the chart are: Geneva (Switzerland), Zurich, London, Oslo, Paris, Amsterdam, Brussels, Rome, Hamburg, Vienna, Berlin, Madrid, Marseille, Lissabon, Athens, Porto

sich-in-Europa-am-besten.html